LAUGHING SWAN SEEDS

on the sunny South Thompson River

Our seed business is remarkably different from any other seed company.

We advocate for people to stop wasting seeds! A family of 4 with a moderate size garden doesn't need 500 lettuce seeds, or 200 basil seeds, or 100 tomato seeds. Generally, you will plant some seeds from the packet, and the rest are put away, either in a place not suitable for keeping them fresh, or forgotten about the next year. Even though many seeds are viable for more than 1 year, fresher is better.

We believe it is better to offer seeds in smaller amounts, that you will use in a year. You are better off to buy fresh seed next year. Also, then you are not stuck with hundreds of seeds of a particular variety. Experiment - try different varieties!

Many people over-sow their seeds. Carrots are a good example: people will fill the seed furrow with seeds (partly to use up what they bought), only to have to spend hours thinning out the shoots so the few plants they actually want can grow! Overcrowding is not good for any plants. Yes, we know this flies in the face of what 'everyone' has 'always done'. Sometimes change is for the better.

We promote sowing fewer seeds, reducing the need to pull them out to thin, thereby not wasting seeds. The shoots that do germinate and sprout will be healthier without all that competition. And, you will have more time to enjoy your garden!

Our seeds are 'naturally grown', without the use of any chemicals of any kind, not even the ones allowed & used by 'organic' gardeners. Good soil, good water, best practices & land husbandry and lots of love!

"Old gardeners never die, they just go to seed"

For tomatoes:

LSF* tomatoes are varieties we have developed here on our farm, won't be found anywhere else!

'indet.' is for an indeterminate plant, one that needs to be staked & produces fruit throughout the season.

'det.' is for a determinate plant, one that is shorter, doesn't need to be staked, and produces its tomatoes all at once over a short time.

'semi-det' is for a plant that doesn't need to be staked, but produces fruit throughout the season.

'parthenocarpic' means the plant does not need pollinators to set & produce fruit, good for early production.

DISC' are seeds that will be discontinued after this year as we will not be growing them anymore. Limited seed, may sell out early.

Primed seed' has already been stratified (pre-chilled), increasing germination rates.
